

I worked with Richard for more than 2 years in "EpicEdge". That was a pretty stressful time like in any startup software shop, and he was one of the rare people gifted with calmness and attention to the details. He can focus on things at hand and deal with crises without getting overwhelmed. We did a few projects together starting from scratch and his knowledge of Object Oriented Architecture and Design as well as database was critical. Some of the projects are successfully implemented and worked for many years in production. He was constantly learning and open for suggestions. We both share a passion for good movies. With his deep knowledge of the cinema in general I always enjoy discussions about old and new age cinema. Reply with him.

Ammy Bortone
6/10/2008